Brief description

This bathroom was redesigned as part of a complete renovation. Coupled with this, it was expanded in size through the reduction in size of an adjacent room. The clients valued an age-appropriate, accessible solution in a modern design which would be convenient and low-maintenance at the same time. Owing to the living situation, the construction time needed to be kept as short as possible. There was also a desire for daylight to shine into the new shower area at the back.

The overall concept was almost crying out for implementation with wedi: a FU complete system, a ready formatted partition wall solution with integrated piping and gap for a glass panel, complete niches, free-standing bench. Furthermore, WC front wall installation with I-Board and the use of a variety of wedi building boards for the rest of the room made sense for a perfectly even and quickly tileable surface – all ready sealed and installed in an instant with wedi 610.

When it came to the bathtub, already planning for tomorrow, a reinforcement panel was integrated into the partition wall, onto which a grab handle for getting in and out safely can later be mounted if this should become necessary owing to age.

The flush-to-floor FU Integro complete system chosen can, thanks to its standard-compliant design and the shower area which, in this instance, was designed to be very open, also be used as a floor drain, taking care of the desire for a low-maintenance solution. Wheelchair accessibility is thrown in for good measure from a tile size of 5 x 5 cm. Thanks to the free-standing bench in the shower area, both seating comfort with plenty of leg room and accessibility with a squeegee or mop are guaranteed.
